You may notice that we pretty much always ask you to reserve a bit of pasta cooking water before draining. It's a good habit to get into! Wondering what makes this cloudy water so darn special? It's salty and starchy, and those magical starches help emulsify your sauce (aka turn it silky smooth). Basically, it makes good pasta great.

1.

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Wash and dry all produce. Peel and finely chop garlic. Remove and discard any large stems from kale.

2.

Once water is boiling, add pasta to pot. Cook until al dente, 9–11 minutes. Reserve ½ cup pasta cooking water, then drain. Toss pasta with a drizzle of olive oil.

While pasta cooks, pat chicken dry with paper towels; season all over with half the Italian Seasoning (you'll use the rest in the next step), salt, and pepper. Heat a drizzle of oil in a large pan over medium-high heat. Add chicken; cook until browned and cooked through, 4–6 minutes per side. Transfer to a cutting board to rest. (Keep empty pan handy for the next step.)

3.

Meanwhile, heat a drizzle of oil in a large pan over medium heat. Add tomatoes and cook, stirring occasionally, until blistered, 1 minute. Add garlic, kale, Italian Seasoning, salt, and pepper; cook, stirring occasionally, until garlic is fragrant and kale is slightly softened, 2–3 minutes.

Use remaining Italian Seasoning here.

Add reserved pasta cooking water and stock concentrate to pan with veggies. Simmer until slightly thickened, 2–3 minutes. Remove pan from heat.

5.

Add drained pasta to pan with veggie mixture; stir in cream cheese, half the feta, and 2 TBSP butter (3 TBSP for 4 servings). (If sauce seems too thick, add 1–2 TBSP water.) Season with salt and pepper to taste. Divide pasta between bowls and top with remaining feta.

Thinly slice chicken crosswise and serve atop bowls.

Chicken is fully cooked when internal temperature reaches 165 degrees.
