You may notice that we pretty much always ask you to reserve a bit of pasta cooking water before draining your pasta. Wondering what makes this cloudy water so darn special? It's salty and starchy, and those magical starches help emulsify your sauce (aka turn it silky smooth). Basically, it makes good pasta great, and we'll never leave you with a bowl full of just good.

1.

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Wash and dry produce. Peel and finely chop garlic. Dice tomato into small pieces. Pat chicken dry with paper towels and dice into ½-inch pieces; season generously with salt and pepper.

2.

Once water is boiling, add pasta to pot. Cook, stirring occasionally, until al dente, 10–12 minutes. Reserve ½ cup pasta cooking water (¾ cup for 4 servings), then drain.

3.

While pasta cooks, heat a large drizzle of oil in a medium pan (use a large pan for 4 servings) over medium heat. Once pan is hot, add chicken in a single layer; stir in garlic and half the Ranch Spice (you'll use the rest later). Cook, stirring occasionally, until chicken is browned and cooked through, 4–6 minutes.

4.

Stir in 1 TBSP flour (2 TBSP for 4 servings) until lightly browned, 15–30 seconds. Stir in reserved pasta cooking water, stock concentrate, cream cheese, remaining Ranch Spice, and ½ tsp salt. Simmer until sauce has thickened and coats the back of a spoon, 1–2 minutes.

5.

Add drained pasta and tomato to pan with sauce; toss to coat. Cook, stirring occasionally, until tomato is warmed through, 1–2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in sour cream and 1 TBSP butter (2 TBSP for 4 servings) until melted and combined. Taste and season with salt. Divide between bowls and serve.

Chicken is fully cooked when internal temperature reaches 165 degrees.
